Historic Building Assessment Methodology

Six Major Assessment Steps
1. Define the historic district; north side Franklin Ave, west side La Brea Ave, south side Sunset Blvd, east side Gower St, and intersection with freeway.
2. Identify all buildings from the National register, State register (BERD), local HCM's, HPOZs, and prior surveys. Facades are included but are not assessed.
3. Establish an assessment method for importance. Criteria includes building status, size and function, visual condition, accessibility, and current designation.
4. For the criteria established in step 3, compile data from various sources.
5. Convert the data from step 4 to a qualitative rating and then revert the ratings back to a composite score. The score denotes the importance of the building.
6. The level of protection provided by current historic status is converted to a score that relates to risk. Designation priority is a function of importance and risk.

- The risk of demolition is inversely related to the level of protection provided by historic designation. Protection levels reflect the regulatory environment at the local level.
- Priority is defined as the importance to the district of the historic asset times the level of risk.
- All buildings are subject to the risk of demolition. A rating of "very low" means there is little to be gained via additional designation.
